Bristol Set For Big Auto, Boat Display

Fourth Annual Mill St. Show This Saturday

The fourth annual Auto-Boat Show will be held on Mill Street Saturday, starting at 9 a.m.

The latest model foreign and American cars will be shown on the business street, with a full size cutaway model of a U. S. Air Force jet plane. Advance interest shown to the Mill Street Association members indicates that this will be the biggest Auto-Boat show ever staged on Mill Street. In past years it has attracted crowds of tens of thousands.

The Ferko String Band, a prize-winning Mummies unit, will parade on the street. Another attraction will be the awarding of a $1,000 boat to a lucky show spectator. Tickets for the drawing are available in the Mill Street stores.

The Mill Street Businessmen have devised a double-barrelled attraction to emphasize their annual Auto and Boat Show.

For visitors, the Mill Street stores are putting on a big sale. A special, 12-page section today advertises the values offered for the weekend.

The other barrel is the interest of the cars and boats to be displayed, along with other features. On our news pages today you'll find news of the car industry, which has gone all out to make 1957 its biggest year for changes.

But only if the Soviet Union agrees to a cheat-proof nuclear disarmament and inspection plan.

We'll buy that one. But it would be completely fatal to stop the testing unless there is absolute guarantee the Reds will ditto. The consequences would be infinitely more catastrophic than the questionable dangers of fall-out the scientists themselves are undecided about.

TRAILER-TRUCK CRASH KILLS 13, INJURES 25

Intense heat from a chemical-fed fire ate away the metal body of a tractor trailer truck on the turnpike, near Newportville, early this morning.

No. Carolina Workers Hit In Collision

Tragedy Takes Place At Scene Of Past Mishaps

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (UP)—A tractor-trailer truck loaded with potatoes smashed into a truck crowded with migrant workers at a busy highway intersection nine miles north of here today, killing 13 persons and injuring at least 25 others.

The injured were rushed to Highsmith and Cape Fear Valley hospitals here and to a hospital at nearby Dunn.

The Highway Patrol and Sheriff L. L. Guy both placed the dead at 13, but they were widely varied on the injured. The patrol said 25 were injured and the sheriff 41. The patrol said the wreck occurred at the intersection of U.S. 301 and N.C. 102, noted for several bloody mishaps in the past, shortly before 7 a.m.

The truck of migrant Negro workers was bound from Mt. Olive, N.C., to Dunn for the workers to pick beans. Authorities said it apparently failed to halt at a stop sign at the intersection and was rammed in the side by the tractor-trailer, en route from Fayetteville to Dunn with a load of potatoes.

The truck with the migrants aboard overturned and burned. Reports said the driver and two persons in the cab of the truck were killed.

Levitt Fence Suit Delayed

The long-delayed fence case between Levitt and Brownford, scheduled for Monday, was continued for the fifth time today at the request of Brownford's attorney.

Attorney Walter W. Jackson requested the continuation on the grounds that a witness for Dr. Marvin W. Brownford is ill.

The equity suit involves a four foot split rail fence which Dr. Brownford erected in the rear of his home at 37 Silverbell Road, Snowball Gate. Levitt and Sons, in filing the suit, claimed that Brownford violated deed restrictions.

The suit was continued four times previously alternately at the request of attorneys for Brownford and Levitt.

DENNIS MacFARLAND

First In Levittown

5-Year-Old Dies But Friend Saved

The highways of Lower Bucks County reaped a grim toll of accidents and destruction in the past 24 hours, including a five-year-old Levittown boy killed by a truck, an ambulance accident that injured six and a truck explosion that later caused two on-lookers to crash.

The five-year-old Levittown boy was killed instantly under the wheels of a Lower Bucks Municipal Authority truck yesterday but his playmate was snatched from death by a Bristol Terrace man.

Dennis MacFarland, 12 Neptune Lane, North Park, was dead on arrival at Lower Bucks County Hospital after being struck by the truck next door to his home.

The boy's death was Levittown's first traffic fatality in its five year history. A friend, Dennis Kowalchik, five, of 8 Neptune Lane, North Park, was saved from the same fate by Lonnie Marshall, 25, of 553 Court B, Bristol Terrace, an employee of O'Connor and Co., garbage collection company.

Officers John Taft and Joseph Ruski, Falls Township police, said Marshall missed saving the dead (Continued on Page 5, Col. 1)

Was Afraid Of Children

"I never wanted to drive. Especially in Levittown, with all these kids around. Now I certainly won't ever again."

Charles Carlen, driver of the truck which fatally injured Dennis MacFarland yesterday afternoon, was deeply distressed following the accident.

"I just didn't see the kid. I just didn't see him," he repeated, with the words coming with difficulty.

Tullytown Carlen, 31, is a bachelor, and has lived in Tullytown all his life.

Before going to work for the Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority, he worked in a rug factory.

"I always put off learning how to drive because I didn't want to chance driving around Levittown."

Short Time "I have only been driving three months, and now this," he said.

The Tullytown man, wearing work clothes and with a peaked cap pulled over his eyes, sat nervously in the Falls Township police station waiting for disposition of his case.

"What's going to happen to me?" he asked no one in particular.

Appearance His face carried a heavy beard and his eyes looked strained from the afternoon's tragedy. "What's going to happen to me?" he repeated.

Jury Frees Morrisville Man Quickly

Defense Tears Apart Stories Of Witnesses

By JIM MCGONIGLE Courier and Times Staff Writer

Twenty-one-year-old Frederick Wayman, 904 N. Pennsylvania Ave., Morrisville, yesterday afternoon was acquitted of armed robbery charges by a Bucks County criminal court jury.

The jury deliberated only 45 minutes before clearing Wayman of any complicity in the robbery of Delaware Valley Dry Cleaners, Edgington, on Dec. 13.

Wayman had been "positively" identified by a former salesgirl at the cleaners, Miss Delores Plunkett, as one of two men who held her up at gunpoint and took $30.55.

Another witness, Charles J. Ferro, 18, of Edgington, said he saw a man resembling Wayman at the scene of the crime a short time before it was committed.

However, discrepancies in their stories concerning Wayman's description and other details on the night of the robbery were torn apart by defense witnesses and Wayman's attorney, Paul J. Barrett, Bristol.

A parade of 12 witnesses and Wayman himself placed Wayman in New Jersey before, during and after the crime was committed.

Two of the 12 witnesses testified yesterday, before the case went to the jury. They were Wayman's mother and Robert B. Cox, manager of the Trenton office of Bell Telephone Co.

Mother Sobs

Mrs. Frances Wayman, who cried uncontrollably on the witness stand, said her son called her at 7:25 p.m. from Plainsboro, N.J., on Dec. 13 to ask if his driver's license had arrived in the mail.

She also testified that after her son was accused of the robbery, she measured the distance from the dry cleaners to Plainsboro, where Wayman said he was at the time of the robbery.

She said her car speedometer showed 31.2 miles to Plainsboro, and that going the maximum speed limit, it took her 50 minutes to get to that town.

Wayman was alleged to have left the robbery scene about 7 p.m., but she said she got the call from Plainsboro only 25 minutes after 7 p.m.

Cox testified that his records show a call was made from James H. McNoughton's home, Lambertville Rd., N.J., to the Plainsboro home at 6:28 p.m. on the evening of Dec. 13.

Other Witnesses

On Tuesday, William E. Thompson, farm manager for McNoughton, said he talked to Wayman in Plainsboro from the McNoughton home shortly before 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 13. His call would be the one referred to in Cox's records.

Other witnesses on Tuesday, including reputable businessmen, physicians and their wives, placed (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

Wink Finds Ouster May Be Illegal

Magazine Says Bensalem Official Can Appeal Pay Cut

By KAY BLINCOE Courier and Times Staff Writer

Bensalem Supervisor Raymond Wink today said he's "undecided on what action" he'll take concerning Bensalem's auditors and their decision last April to cut his salary as township roadmaster.

Mr. Wink learned yesterday from the Courier and Times that an article published in the Pennsylvania Township News handed down an opinion on the matter and that he has a right to appeal the auditors' action.

The article referred to Mr. Wink only as "Mr. ——" and Bensalem Township only as "an eastern township," but a check by the Courier and Times confirmed that Mr. Wink and Bensalem were the ones referred to. The supervisor was removed as roadmaster in April on a motion by Mrs. May Clee and seconded by Joseph Murdock, a third supervisor.

He continued working as roadmaster without pay after the auditors stopped his $6,000 yearly salary. Complete ouster came April 6, with the motion by Mrs. Clee. He has never been reimbursed for four days work done after his salary had been cut.

If Mr. Wink decides to appeal the action it could mean that the ouster would be found to be illegal. If the ouster is illegal, Mr. Wink could then take the roadmaster's job back, which, in effect, he never left. He would also collect his regular salary.

If Mr. Wink decides not to appeal, the action taken would remain as is.

Skies Expected To Clear Tonight

Skies are expected to clear tonight following a misty, humid late spring day.

The Weather Bureau at Trenton said this afternoon's high was expected to reach the middle 80's with an overnight low in the 60's forecast.

Tomorrow will be cloudy and spotted with showers throughout the day and early evening with temperatures in the 80's.

In Girard Case

Attorneys Trying To Reverse Ike

OTTAWA, Ill. (UP)—Three attorneys planned to take legal action in Washington today in an effort to reverse the government's decision to turn American GI William S. Girard over to Japanese courts for trial.

One of the lawyers, Earl Carroll, who has law offices in New York and California, said he would file a writ of habeas corpus this morning in Washington asking that Girard be returned to the United States immediately.

Carroll, in a telephone talk with Girard's brother, Louis Girard, 28, of Ottawa, revealed that he filed application for the writ in federal court late Wednesday.

The other two attorneys, representing Mrs. Dorothy Girard, 45, mother of the soldier, announced they would fly to Washington today to consult with Carroll and possibly meet with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Army Secretary Wilbur Brucker this week. Dulles was expected to spend the day on the aircraft carrier Saratoga near Jacksonville, Fla.

The attorneys, James D. Reynolds and Elliott B. Young of nearby Peoria, said Rep. Robert Michael of Peoria was seeking to arrange the Dulles-Brucker meetings.

Girard, a 21-year-old Army specialist third class, faces manslaughter charges in the death of a Japanese woman on a firing range in Japan. He is to be turned over to Japanese courts under the "Status of Forces" agreement.

And There You 'Hab It'

L. Bucks Puffs On Despite Cancer Link

Lower Bucks countians are apparently going with the national trend of increased cigarette smoking despite a recent American Cancer Society report claiming a definite link between smoking and lung cancer.

Statistics of a four-year study showed higher death rates from cancer for smokers over non-smokers.

And a government tobacco expert said Americans will smoke a record number of cigarettes this fiscal year.

A check of passers-by in the Levittown Shopping Center pointed out cigarette butts would still clutter American homes and byways. Albert Kay, 43, of 14 Fireside Lane, Farmbrook, Levittown, sitting on a bench on the mall watching his daughter said, "I think they're (the experts) probably right, but I've got the habit so bad I just can't quit. I know they're (cigarettes) not good for you, but what can you do when you've got the habit?"

After reading the cigarette-cancer story in the Courier and Times, Harry Cain, 50, of the Panama Canal Zone, said, "Well, it doesn't scare me to death. I'm going to keep on smoking unless I can find more proof of the cancer link."

Mrs. Thomas Putnam, of Beverly, N.J., a non-smoker said, "I don't think from what I've seen that it hurts to smoke lightly, but I don't think you should smoke a lot."

"My father who's 68 has a cigarette in his mouth all the time and he's never sick — doesn't even cough," Mrs. James Nealon, 71, Cobalt Cross Road, Cobalt Cross, Levittown, said.

"I've smoked myself for almost four years and it's never bothered me," she said. "I think it's up to the individual's make-up if he's subject to cancer."

The government tobacco spokesman said American smokers will consume 399 billion cigarettes by the end of the month — the end of the fiscal year. Smokers puffed their way through 387 billion cigarettes last year, reports show.

The official was careful to avoid predicting what impact the cancer society's report on the cancer link would have on smokers, but said previous warnings caused only temporary drop in consumption.

A spokesman at Levittown News said yesterday, "We sold out of cigarettes this morning, if that's a criterion."

On Way To See Grandson

Every bit the proud grandparents, former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman leave Independence, Mo., by train to visit their daughter, Mrs. Margaret Truman Daniel, who gave birth to a six and one half pound boy in New York.

Harry And Bess See Grandchild Today

NEW YORK (UP) — Former President and Mrs. Truman get their first look today at their first grandchild.

The Trumans, who entrained from Independence, Mo., seven hours after learning that daughter Margaret had given birth to a boy yesterday were due to arrive here today.

With them, they brought a baseball and a baseball glove, presented to the former President during a stopover yesterday at St. Louis, Truman indicated, however, that he would prefer to see his grandson grow up to become a politician, rather than a ball-player.

Future Senator. Asked if he would like to see the boy follow in his footsteps and become president, he said:

"I wouldn't wish that on anybody. I would be happy to see him become a U.S. senator, but being president is too much of a burden for anybody."

How did it feel to be a grandfather?

"Fine," Mr. Truman replied. "There's no controversy."

Name For Boy Does he favor naming the 6½-pound boy for him?

"I haven't got a thing to do with it," he said.

But his son-in-law, E. Clifton Daniel Jr., a member of the news staff of the New York Times, said that "Truman will undoubtedly be in the name somewhere."

Leader Backs Democrats In Funds Delay

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader said today he did not dictate House Democratic strategy to withhold support of funds for state-aided institutions pending action by the Senate on regular budget needs, but concurred in the move.

He said the Democratic action, described as a "sitdown strike" by Republicans, was decided upon when he met with Democratic leaders early this week.

"I did not make the proposal and I don't recall I commented on it," he said at his news conference. "I certainly concur in what they decided. I think our Democratic members are ready to stay put for awhile and fight it out. I am too."

The governor said he believed it was obvious that preferred appropriations covering regular state governmental needs and slashed by GOP leaders have "priority" over so-called non-preferred allocations still in the House for hospitals, universities and other private institutions.

Asked how long the House Democrats plan to block passage of the non-preferred appropriations, the governor replied:

"It depends a lot on how things shape up in the Senate."

Holding the whip hand because the special appropriations require a two-thirds majority, the Democrats solidly opposed a Republican move to enact 24 million dollars for state-aided hospitals at Wednesday's legislative sessions. The 122 GOP votes for the bill were 18 short of the number needed for passage.

House Democratic Leader Albert S. Readinger (Berks) conceded that eventually there will be Democratic votes for the "non-preferred" appropriations. But he insisted they will not be forthcoming until the Democrats know how much money is going to be restored by the Senate Republicans to the General Appropriation Bill.

PTA Carnival Is Success

Mrs. Pat Petrick, president of the Lafayette Elementary School PTA announced the success of the recent Spring Carnival, held on the school grounds at Walnut and Fairview Aves., Bristol Township. Among the attractions there were pony rides, a fish pond, white elephant sale, a motion picture program, and a number of skill games and booths.

A jitterbug contest highlighted the event and was won by Margaret Rago and Carol Caricaciottoli, sixth grade pupils.

PTA members set up several refreshment booths both outdoors and inside the school. In addition to Mrs. Petrick, committees included: Jean Morgan, Doris Kilian, and Roberta Fullerton. Also serving on committees were: Harriet Broshe, Violet Miller, Ann Morgan, Mary Feldstein, Marie Lord, Dorothy Chance, Doris Altshimer, Betty Pencer, Mary Weber, George Petrillo, James Foley and John Plastas.

Suicide Try Is Thwarted

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UP)—Two quick telephone calls from Pittsburgh were credited today with thwarting the suicide attempt of a young Lockheed aircraft worker separated from his wife.

Howard Beatty, 23, telephoned his friend Byron Painter, 30, of Pittsburgh yesterday to talk to him for the "last time."

Just before he hung up Beatty said he was going to commit suicide by slashing his wrists.

Painter immediately called Beatty's wife, Janice, in Los Angeles and learned that Beatty was staying at the Holiday Inn, about 50 miles south of San Francisco.

A second quick call to Mountain View police sent an emergency squad rushing to the inn. There police found Beatty with his wrists slashed and they rushed him to Palo Alto Hospital.

Dr. Alec S. MacKenzie said Beatty was "upset and needs psychiatric care."

Yardley Youth Hurt In Baseball Game

An 11-year-old Yardley boy suffered a fractured collar bone at a baseball game at the Pennsbury High School field yesterday.

Paul Haldeman, 164 North Main St., was treated at Mercer Hospital, Trenton. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Haldeman. Hospital officials said the boy collided with another youngster while chasing a fly ball.

1st Witnesses to Be Called In Turnpike Swindle Case

HARRISBURG (UP)—The first witnesses were to be called today when the state begins unfolding its case against nine men charged with conspiracy in an alleged multi-million dollar swindle of Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission funds.

Dauphin County Judge Homer L. Kreider allotted time for opening statements to the jury by attorneys for each of the nine defendants. They will be made before the prosecution begins examination of witnesses, probably at the afternoon session.

Millions Of Dollars In opening statements yesterday, District Attorney Huethe F. Dowling and Vincent G. Panati, deputy attorney general, said they would show that Thomas J. Evans, Coaldeale, former commission chairman and suspended Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export and three other top turnpike officials conspired to defraud the agency of "millions of dollars."

Panati said the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., of Reading, named by the state as the instrumentality of the alleged fraud, held a "favored" position in its negotiations with the turnpike and Scranton, and made a 100 per cent profit.

Manu - Mine president Charles W. Strickler Jr., who is on trial on charges of conspiracy and fraud, is married to Evans' niece. And Evans' son, the late Richard Evans, was a stockholder and officer in the firm.

Charge Prices "Outrageous" The prosecutors charged that prices charged by Manu - Mine for the filling work were "outrageous," and contended the commissioners gave the contracts to Manu - Mine without conducting competitive bidding, required in awarding construction contracts.

In the first of nine defense statements, attorney Earl V. Compton, representing Strickler, told the jury the Commonwealth's evidence was "circumstantial," and the defense would show by the prosecution's own evidence that no fraud was involved in the negotiation or execution of the contracts.

Youth Drops Dead After Scoring Run EAST CHICAGO, Ind. —UP—A high school boy dropped dead of a heart attack moments after crossing home plate to become the second youth to die on the baseball diamond in the Illinois-Indiana area in as many days.

The victims, both 15, were avid baseball fans.

Harold L. Hedinger apparently suffered a heart attack as he crossed home plate in a gym class softball game at Washington High School here Wednesday.

A Vandalia, Ill., boy, Tommy Greer, was killed Tuesday when he and another youth collided chasing a pop fly in a Pony League game-lite at Vandalia.

Seeing Levittown By LEE GARB The Levittown Kiwanis Club is frantically trying to capture their IWO JIMA float seen in the Memorial Day Parade, for all time, but despite shutter-clicking all about them, nobody can produce a picture of it.

If anyone who was taking snaps that day happened to catch it, our local Kiwanians would be most grateful for a copy . . . call Bill Murphy, Jr., 32 Elm Lane, WI-6-5997.

We might as well get our "best quote" in on the current cigarette-cancer bit: an unidentified gentleman pointed out that it's a matter of individual calculated risk. . . "If I cut out cigarettes I gain weight," he explained. "So I've decided to take a chance on getting cancer rather than a heart attack due to obesity."

Another friend smugly suggested everyone give up cigarettes. . . "It's just a matter of taking a firm stand and remaining strong in your decision," he explained while lighting his briar.

It was funny dept: This might lose something in the retelling, but . . . at a meeting we attended in a private home last night, a call was received by the host, an engineer-scientist of note. His wife was on the line from a friend's home where she was pinch-hit baby sitting, and wanted to know how to turn off a rather involved hi-fi radio she'd been listening to.

Friend hubby listened patiently to a vivid description of each knob, switch and button with their relative placement on the radio, while the meeting-goers watched with interest. After a few minutes of cogitating on the problem he came up with the answer: "Pull out the plug, dear."

Periodically, ever since Levittown was built, someone asks why the house numbers jump . . . and periodically the answer has been: "It's rather involved, but has something to do with the size of Levittown lots."

82-Year-Old Fallsington Man Dies After Fall An 82-year-old Fallsington man died yesterday in Delaware Valley Hospital, Bristol, after falling at the home of his daughter where he was living.

Pay Schedule Is Outlined By Board

The Delhaas Joint School Board last night unanimously approved a program to pay teachers for extra curricular work such as coaching athletics and directing musical and dramatic events.

The board appropriated $20,000 to support the program, which starts next September, for one year.

Up until now teachers were not paid for extra work.

Extra pay will range from $500, the maximum, for football coaching to $50 for the bowling coach or other jobs.

The program and extra pay schedule was drawn up and recommended by a committee of school administrators, supervisors and teachers.

The committee evaluated each extra job in relation to the other jobs. Each extra duty was given a unit value, up to 10 units. Each unit is worth $50. The football coaching job is valued at 10 units. In addition there will be three assistant coaches at six units, or $300 each.

Units Evaluation The evaluation on other coaching positions are: basketball, nine units or $450; baseball, seven units or $350; track, $300; wrestling, gymnastics and soccer, $250 each; golf and tennis, $100 each; girls hockey, basketball and softball $150 each.

Other High School activities which will be given extra pay are: publicity director, $200; photographer, $150; operating school store, $250; class sponsors—senior, $250; junior, $150, and sophomore, $150.

Faculty advisors to the student council and president's council will get $50 extra pay each, while the director of the stage crew and curriculum materials center will receive $200.

The band and orchestra director will get $300, choir director, $150; faculty advisor to the yearbook will get $300; for the newspaper, $250, for the magazine, $200. Head of the school, dramatics program will get $200.

A similar, but lower scale for teachers in Benjamin Franklin Junior High school, was also approved.

The cost of the program is estimated at $19,256 for 335 extra units.

The committee also outlined the duties normally expected of teachers without extra pay.

On the high school level this includes teaching a minimum of five classes a day, supervising two study periods a week, sponsor one club on school time, performing committee work for the school welfare, at a t e n d school events and faculty and departmental meetings.

Ike Boards Carrier To View Navy Tests

ABOARD U.S.S. SARATOGA (UP)—President Eisenhower put to sea today aboard the pride of the Navy, the new 60,000-ton supercarrier, U.S.S. Saratoga, for a concentrated 24-hour study of guided missiles, jet operations, anti-submarine warfare and defense against atom bombs.

The Chief Executive flew from Washington with most of the National Security Council and other top federal officials and boarded this angled-deck "floating air base" at Mayport, Fla.

The President arrived at this St. John's River base from Washington at 10:28 a.m. e.d.t. aboard his personal plane, the Columbine III.

Bensalem GOP Seeks First-Class Township

Bensalem's Republican Organization last night took the first step to quell Philadelphia's pending move to annex a part or all of the township, by voting unanimously to circulate petitions for a first-class township.

County Republican Chairman Fred Zeigler, a Bensalem resident, told club members that a possible annexation of a part or all of the township by Philadelphia was "common knowledge," and that if Bensalem residents don't move in the right direction, annexation was almost a certainty.

Thirty-two petitions will be circulated by organization workers for signatures of township voters.

Pine Grove Water Lines May Have To Be Moved

The borough of Morrisville may be smacked with a $10,000 moving bill as a result of the installation of storm sewer lines as part of the Route 13 extension.

Bob Steward, Morrisville borough secretary, said the borough's water lines on Pine Grove Road may have to be moved to make way for the installation of the state's sewer lines.

Right Of Way

The state has the right of way to the road and any cost of moving the water mains will have to be carried by the borough.

More than 500 feet of water lines may have to be moved which could cost the borough as much as $10,000, the secretary said.

The Route 13 extension terminates at the Yardley-Morrisville Road, off Pine Grove Road.

Regardless of the cost of the operation, if it is proved necessary, the state will not contribute any money to the moving of the water lines.

No Charges Planned In Ice Box Death

ORLANDO, Fla. (UP)—Police plan no charges against the owner of an ice box in which a 10-year-old boy, hiding from his mother, suffocated Tuesday, authorities said Wednesday.

Detectives said that Arthur B. Murphy violated no law by not having an inside catch on the ice box, because it was stored in a building—not in the open.

The boy, Vance Lafayette Satterthwaite, son of Mrs. Sarah L. Satterthwaite, crawled into the ice box stored in a garage after his mother had punished him.

vey to determine if the state's storm sewer lines can be placed at some other spot on the shoulder of the road without making the ripping up of the water lines necessary.

Test holes have been made in the street for inspection by the state employees. These test holes are used to determine the location of the water lines and depth of the mains.

After the survey is completed the state highway men will determine if the moving of the water lines is necessary.

The Yardley Water and Power Company, suppliers of water in the north end of Lower Makefield Township, have a line in Pine Grove Road and may have to move theirs, also.

Final decision is expected within a day or two, the secretary said.

Dolington Rd. Mail Services To Start

Lower Makefield Township families living in new developments along Dolington Road will soon be hearing the cry of the modern "pony express."

Mail delivery on a home to home basis will shortly be available to these homes.

Persons living in the area have previously been forced to receive their mail through box number addresses at the Yardley Post Office.

The Post Office Department in Yardley has made a complete survey of the area including a count of individual homes to determine the need for delivery service.

Postmaster Ruth A. McKenna of Yardley, said the service to the homes would start very shortly.

Delivery will begin as soon as the Post Office Department determines what type of carrier will be used in the area.

Lower Makefield Township has no postal service of its own but it is served in the north end by the Yardley Post Office and in the south end of the township by the Morrisville Post Office.

Bus Change Is Definite

The Richmond Bus Company has no intention of altering its schedule change which eliminated some Sunday and late evening service from Yardley to Trenton.

In a letter to Frederick Bebbington, Yardley Borough secretary, the company explained that the present schedule is "the best that could be worked out."

After many months of survey, the bus company determined that the night runs and early Sunday morning service was being run at a loss.

Mr. Bebbington said the only action left for council if they wish to fight the curtailment is to file a protest with the Public Utilities Commission.

"There is no indication at this time that council will take such action," the secretary said.

Morrisville Club To See Valley Film

Morrisville Rotary Club will view a film which includes the industrial expansion of the Delaware Valley tonight called "This Is New Jersey."

Thomas Rohner, program chairman of the club, said the film prepared by the New Jersey Bell Telephone company records the industrial expansion of the Garden State with heavy emphasis on both sides of the Delaware Valley.

The meeting starts at 6:15 p.m. at Pennsbury Inn.

Pool Subscription Workers, Life Members To Have Plaque

Life members and subscription workers of the Morrisville Community Pool will have their names inscribed in permanent plaques to be placed at the pool.

Mrs. Frank Gaskill, publicity chairman of the pool, said the names of the life members will be inscribed on a temporary plaque to be placed at the pool immediately.

Permanent Plaque

At a later date the names will be put on a permanent plaque to be hung at the pool grounds. Names of the workers who gathered subscriptions for the pool will be posted on a bulletin board with a permanent plaque made for this group at a later date.

At a meeting this week, the pool board decided that the grassed sun bathing area will be enlarged next year.

Parking Lot Completed

The parking lot outside the pool area has been completed by the borough and is in operation now, the board was told.

Mrs. Gaskill also announced the pool is in need of a loud speaker system and anyone able to donate one may contact her or E. Dilwyn Darlington, pool board president.
